Hello Inland Psych,

I do believe that I had some kind of billing placed onto my account from an office visit that I never made nor presented to your office.

The Billing what for some kind of test to see how I think. I do believe this was sometime back in June.

Now onto today. I have a REAL REFERAL and a REAL NEED to communicate PROPERLY with you all.,

I am not going to accept anything less than the standard of excellence. I expect all persons involved to my care --- to remain the most honorable and most natural to be professional in all of this.

We have something to work out of the mucky mess. I just don't understand you're all need to hold onto a past --- of secrets.

On your Schedule Appointment page, new patients are given the directive to use email.

I have sent an email. I must INSIST that you take what is reflected... The Disclosure of the NIH.GOV research findings documents is presented here.

I am sick and tired to be treated like a rag doll in all of this.

Time for change ---especially in the standard of community communications that places a barrier against me unjustly and unwisely. These documents are published on the National Institutes of Heath in direct reference that they are related to Mental Health Topics--- These documents matter -- high degree matter -- to be inclusive to bring into my care -- of my mental healthcare. Thank you.

Conclusions: The study found that contributors to the study corpus accomplished a number of tasks. They used linguistic practices to co-construct an internally coherent and systematized persecutory belief system. They advanced a position that gangstalking is real and contested the medicalizing discourse that gangstalking is a form of mental disorder. They supported one another by sharing similar experiences and providing encouragement and advice. Finally, they commiserated over the challenges of proving the existence of gangstalking.

Social Semiotics of Gangstalking Evidence Videos on YouTube: Multimodal Discourse Analysis of a Novel Persecutory Belief System

Background

Gangstalking refers to a novel persecutory belief system wherein sufferers believe that they are being followed, watched, and harassed by a vast network of people in their community who have been recruited as complicit perpetrators. They are frequently diagnosed as mentally ill, although they reject this formulation. Those affected by this belief system self-identify as targeted individuals (TIs). They seek to prove the veracity of their persecution and dispute the notion that they are mentally ill by posting videos online that purport to provide evidence of their claims.

Clinical Implications

This observation may have important clinical ramifications. Traditionally, psychiatrists define delusions as fixed beliefs that are not amenable to change, considering conflicting evidence [47]. An alternative definition is that delusions are beliefs that are demonstrably untrue or not shared by others [48]. However, these and other definitions of delusions fall short, and arriving at a definitive definition may be impossible [49]. The prospect of a clinician definitively establishing the truth or falsity of a delusional belief system is often impractical or impossible. Often when a clinician states that a belief system is untrue or impossible, they are relying on their own beliefs, biases, and cultural referents. By shifting, instead, to a linguistic or semiotic understanding of delusions as belief systems that are unresolvable or that defer understanding ad infinitum, clinicians may sidestep the difficulties inherent in existing definitions. Ultimately, all users of semiotic systems—patients and clinicians alike—are subject to the same fundamental limits on communication and understanding inherent in language and all symbolic systems. Such a humbling realization may help to promote empathy and understanding and reduce stigma affecting people afflicted by persecutory belief systems.

Conclusions

Our findings provide insight into a novel persecutory belief system. Interpersonal concerns are important for people affected, and they construe others as either sympathetic or hostile. They create a positive ambient affiliation with viewers. Vloggers use multimodal deixis to illustrate the salience of the belief system. Clinicians may consider stepping away from the traditional true/false dichotomy endorsed by psychiatric classification systems and focus on the ambiguity in semiotic systems generally and in persecutory belief systems specifically.

Does that make sense to the role that you must put into view --- as it relates to not dismissing this topic into my care of the doctor's view? I do not accept your dismissal of responsibility in all of this.

Want a New Drug
Song by Huey Lewis and the News

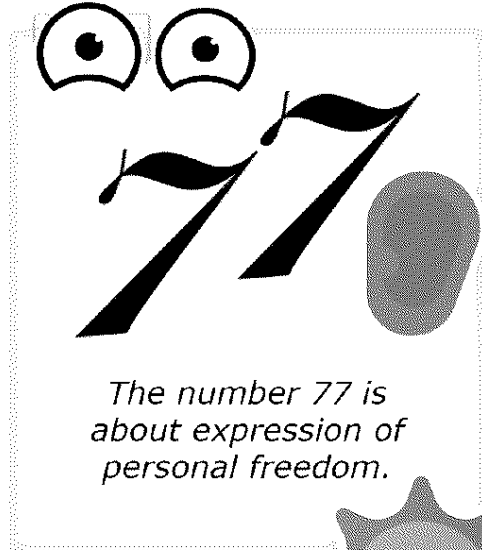

Lyrics

I want a new drug, one that won't make me sick
One that won't make me crash my car
Or make me feel three-feet thick
I want a new drug, one that won't hurt my head
One that won't make my mouth too dry
Or make my eyes too red
One that won't make me nervous
Wonderin' what to do
One that makes me feel like I feel when I'm with you
When I'm alone with you
I want a new drug, one that won't spill
One that don't cost too much
Or come in a pill
I want a new drug, one that won't go away
One that won't keep me up all night
One that won't make me sleep all day
One that won't make me nervous
Wonderin' what to do
One that makes me feel like I feel when I'm with you
I'm alone with you, baby
I'm alone with you, baby
I want a new drug, one that does what it should
One that won't make me feel too bad
One that won't make me feel too good
I want a new drug, one with no doubt
One that won't make me talk too much
Or make my face breakout
One that won't make me nervous
Wonderin' what to do
One that makes me feel like I feel when I'm with you
I'm alone with you
I'm alone with you, yeah, yeah

My life is alone with no one. No one -- no one. I am the one who stands for the standard of excellence, it is trashed upon. I do not accept this equation that I cannot speak the truth to my health care providers. That truth makes the doctors weak. Weak to see that I cannot be anything other than me. You cannot cut me off

The energy represented by the numerology number 77 is, foremost, an energy of expression of personal freedom.

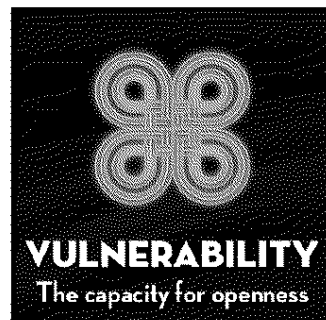

77 is introspective, but also adventurous and sensual and spiritual so long as its expression of personal freedom isn't restrained.

I know the truth is so sick. A sickness that overwhelms you to insane relations and choices you put into breaking relations. You must hold allegiance to some other force that you are secretly bonded to. A person, place, thing, or demon I do not know.

For fucked up human sure, you drop all respect away from me!

You all are killing me! Slowly...
A Forevermore Cruel Irrationality!

My name is James Driskill. I need to follow up with my doctor's referral for mental health care services. I am establishing an information society connection into your office, which is the method I prefer. This is to have a RESOURCE of the outside world to bring into my view of my healthcare. I am attempting to empower this level of standard with all doctors involved and interfaced with my life. I have been on this attempt at the mission of [Patient Centered] communications for many years now. Unfortunately, all my attempts to bring this into the view of my doctors and providers seem to be dashed for some other agenda am unable to be given the ability to CONFER a conversation. This remarkable set of circumstances has been documented in my live [surface web indexed] life journal for many, many years now.

That agenda seems to be a barrier in place [very tall wall must be smashed to smithereens] that seems to work contrary to my needs to maintain a writing interface with my service. For the disclosure of necessity, I am using the tool of text scanning and corrections known as Grammarly. Even though I know that I do author my words well over the years, my efforts to write out to the community go unresponded to.

There is no reason for such an imbalanced form of communication to not hold a dual concept of exchange in this method of communication. There is no excuse to put me into the box and close the lid in silence. I do not accept that condition, no matter what. I am still trying to work this out with my Primary Care Doctor's office.

I am at a non-negotiable element with this in the year 2021.

Ego, Discernment, and The Non-Negotiables [Audio]

I must place the disclosure up front that I own an information technology networking mission and web presence on the information society. I have the right to use this with all contacts of our civil society. Failure to respect and incorporate the wholeness of me in this type of interface is a violation of my rights and a violation of laws that the doctor sides on these past time connections don't get the clue.

You all can not dissect me into pieces to form the relationship of care in a belittling methodology. It goes to disempower me and to separate yourself to hold onto and apart from being accountable for a full view of our world.

Our world is an informational society, and it is your obligation to maintain that connection upon our practices of purposes we choose to undergo.

We begin; we are now underway on a new standard that I must impose upon you if you have not yet had such a demand from a patient's positioning into securing a trustworthy interface to a mental health conditioning with psychiatric care.

What has been done to me for 16+ years in all of this disorientation of understanding has ruined my life, over and over again and over with no resolves to the underlying condition that I am dealing with that is in FACTS NOT FAKE.

I think it is nice and well to be working with the researched findings published at the National Institutes of Health on the subject that has been the cause to bring upon me the conditions that have mentally broken me and ruin my life.

It is not fair that you all doctors can go on and ignore the reality of these conditions, now published to nih.gov. There is something very seriously wrong in the intended actions to separate and remain a silent actor to not become my advocate.

I AM DEMANDING CHANGE.

I DO NOT CARE WHAT IT TAKES FOR YOU ALL TO BEND YOURSELF AROUND TO THIS SAME SET OF CONCLUSIONS.

WHAT HAS BROKEN ME, NEVER HAS BEEN CHALLENGED TO BE ABLE TO STOP THE HATE.

MERCY MERCY MERCY ME, STOP THE HATE ON ME ALREADY!

I expect involved care and concern in the connection and interactions with my doctor that does indeed reach up and out into our world of an informational resource that empowers my side, the patient side, of life. The wholeness of me.

Words To Live By

Art thou dejected?
Is thy mind o'ercast?
To chase thy gloom,
Go fix some weighty truth;
Chain down some passion; do some generous good;
Teach Ignorance to see, or Grief to smile;
Correct thy friend; befriend thy greatest foe;
Be just in all things; make amends
For follies past; and, with warm heart,
Forgive, and be forgiven. Let work not words
Thy virtue prove. Go act as well as prate,
And then thy counsels will be strong,
Thy reprimands avail. —ANON

THE province of the historian is to gather the threads of the past ere they elude forever his grasp and weave them into a harmonious web to which the art preservative may give immortality. Therefore he who would rescue from fast gathering oblivion the deeds of a community and send them on to futurity in an imperishable record should deliver a plain unvarnished tale.
